

Training opportunities for GP
Registrars across GPTQ's region with IPN's General Practice Network

Welcome to IPN

As a Practising GP, I understand the importance of choosing a practice that offers a great culture, supportive colleagues and the resources you need to deliver high quality patient care.

IPN (Independent Practitioner Network) remains true to its history; a tailored business partnership complemented by full clinical sovereignty.

Our experienced team take care of running the practice, so you can focus on what you love most – practising medicine and caring for your patients – whilst maintaining a great work-life balance. All without the responsibility, administrative burden and financial risk of running your own practice.

We pride ourselves on the excellent services we provide, both to the community through the provision of high quality healthcare, and to our Doctors, as a premium practice management service. We are also proud of the high quality facilities at over 230 locations around Australia.

With over thirty years of experience in general practice management, we are the premium operator of medical centres in Australia. You can be confident that IPN will offer you the best experience group general practice has to offer.

I look forward to working with you.

Dr Ged Foley
Chief Executive Officer
IPN Medical Centres

Who We Are

IPN is focused on delivering high quality patient care in a supportive team environment.

Working as a Registrar with IPN's General Practice Network will ensure you have access to caring and attentive Supervisors, a diverse mix of patients, great nursing and administration support and a fun team environment.

IPN's extensive network also offer great career options once you complete your training so that you can select a practice and location that completely suits your needs with plenty of opportunities for further professional development.

IPN is the trusted business partner of over 2,000 dedicated, independent General Practitioners supported by a team of healthcare professionals including nurses, practice managers, customer service personnel and corporate support personnel. IPN has over 230 medical practices across Australia which provides you with a wide range of options when you complete your training.

We believe in providing the highest level of service to both Doctors and patients with the utmost integrity, honesty and professionalism.

IPN has a reputation for being very Doctor focused, and since partnering with them, I have found this to be true. The staff manage my bookings, run the practice and take care of all of the administration, so I can focus on the clinical side with my patients. I particularly find supervising Registrar Doctors rewarding, and it's encouraging to see them return and join IPN at a later date. IPN has a lot of experience in medical management and offers flexibility, support and a great lifestyle. I would recommend IPN to my colleagues looking to focus more on patients and not on the burdens of the business side of practice management.

Dr Chris Coghill Upper Mountains Medical Centre, New South Wales

The first advice that I would give to other doctors or practices that might be interested in getting involved in supervising GP registrars is to 'just do it'. It really is something that will give your working day and week a lift, it's not without it's hiccups along the way, but the rewards that you will get in terms of supporting a young professional develop their career, the financial support that is available through the training subsidies and the incentive to just keep fresh in your ideas of medicine really make it worthwhile. The enthusiasm that registrars bring will also have you looking for the next placement once they're finished.

Join our Team

IPN works in partnership with independent General Practitioners across Australia.

We believe in working as a team. IPN's supportive staff take care of the day-to-day running of medical practices, while Doctors care for their patients in the comfort of quality medical centres. We appreciate that "one size doesn't fit all" and therefore have the flexibility to tailor a business partnership that is mutually beneficial.

Whether you're practising in a solo, group or large practice, or about to launch your career as a General Practitioner, our flexible business models can support your successful practice establishment.
